Studies in Education Policy are published periodically throughout the year by The Fraser Institute, Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

The Fraser Institute is an independent Canadian economic and social research and educational organization. It has as its objective the redirection of public attention to the role of competitive markets in providing for the well-being of Canadians. Where markets work, the Institute's interest lies in trying to discover prospects for improvement. Where markets do not work, its interest lies in finding the reasons. Where competitive markets have been replaced by government control, the interest of the Institute lies in documenting objectively the nature of the improvement or deterioration resulting from government intervention. The work of the Institute is assisted by an Editorial Advisory Board of internationally renowned economists. The Fraser Institute is a national, federally chartered non-profit organization financed by the sale of its publications and the tax-deductible contributions of its members, foundations, and other supporters; it receives no government funding.

Introduction

The Report Card on Alberta's Elementary Schools: 2003 Edition (hereafter, Report Card) collects a variety of relevant, objective indicators of school performance into one, easily accessible public document so that anyone can analyze and compare the performance of individual schools. By doing so, the Report Card assists parents when they choose a school for their children and encourages and assists all those seeking to improve their schools.

The Fraser Institute's report cards are now well established in Canada. In the United States, the departments of education in 49 states publish annual report cards on schools—for all school levels—many of which are not dissimilar to the Institute's series. In the United Kingdom, the national Department for Education and Skills publishes a wide variety of data on school performance.

Report cards on schools are becoming commonplace. But, are they effective? Certainly, anecdotal evidence provided to the authors by parents and school administrators confirm their usefulness. Further, research suggests that real gains in school performance can result from their introduction. In an article published in 2001, Caroline Hoxby,¹ a Harvard professor of Economics well known for her work related to education, showed that students in American states that published report cards experienced faster improvement in their scores on the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) than did students in states that did not publish report cards. Hoxby concludes, "Statewide standardized tests and school report cards may be unpleasant for ineffectual educators, but they should not be controversial with parents or policy makers who want to see higher achievement. Schools conduct themselves better when their constituents are informed."

The Report Card can help parents choose

Where parents can choose among several schools for their children, the Report Card provides a valuable tool for making a decision. Because it makes comparisons easy, the Report Card alerts parents to those nearby schools that appear to have more effective academic programs. Parents can also determine whether or not schools of interest are improving over time. By first studying the Report Card, parents will be better prepared to ask relevant questions when they interview the principal and teachers at the schools under consideration.

Of course, the choice of a school should not be made solely on the basis of any one source of information. Families choosing a school for their students should seek to confirm the Report Card's findings by visiting the school and interviewing teachers and school administrators. In addition, a sound academic program should be complemented by effective programs in areas of school activity not measured by the Report Card. Nevertheless, the Report Card provides a detailed picture of each school that is not easily available elsewhere.

The Report Card facilitates school improvement

Certainly, the act of publicly rating and ranking schools attracts attention. This attention can provide both a carrot and a stick. The results of poorly performing schools generate concern as do those whose performance is deteriorating. Schools that perform well or show consistent improvement are applauded. This inevitable attention provides an incentive for all those connected with a school to focus on student results.

However, the Report Card offers more than just incentive. It includes a variety of indicators, each of which reports results for an aspect of school performance that might be improved. School administrators who are dedicated to improvement eagerly accept the Report Card as another source of opportunities for improvement.

Some schools do better than others

To improve a school, one must believe that improvement is achievable. This Report Card, like the Fraser Institute's report cards on secondary schools, provides evidence about what can be accomplished. It demonstrates clearly that, even when we take into account factors such as the students' family background, which some believe dictate the degree of academic success that students will have in school, some schools do better than others. This finding confirms the results of research carried out in other countries.² Indeed, it will come as no great surprise to experienced parents and educators that the data consistently suggest that what goes on in the schools makes a difference to academic results and that some schools make more of a difference than others.

Comparisons are at the heart of the improvement process

Many elementary school authorities in Alberta provide students and their parents with report cards that include both the student's mark and the median mark for each subject in which the student is enrolled. The report cards also show any marks awarded to the student earlier in the year. Comparative and historical data like these enable students and parents to see a clearer picture of the student's progress. By comparing a school's results with those of neighbouring schools or of schools with similar school and student characteristics, we can identify more successful schools and learn from them. By comparing a school's latest results with those of earlier years, we can see if the school is improving. Reference to overall provincial results places an individual school's level of achievement in a broader context.

There is great benefit in identifying schools that are particularly effective. By studying the techniques used in schools where students are successful, less effective schools may find ways to improve. This advantage is not lost on the United Kingdom's Department of Education and Skills. Its Beacon Schools program³ identifies schools across the country that have demonstrated expertise in a wide variety of challenging aspects of the management of schools and the teaching and counselling of their students.

Comparisons are at the heart of improvement: making comparisons among schools is made simpler and more meaningful by the Report Card's indicators, ratings, and rankings.

You can contribute to the development of the Report Card

The Report Card program benefits from the input of interested parties. We welcome your suggestions, comments, and criticisms. Please contact us via e-mail to: reportcards@fraserinstitute.ca.

A measure of academic effectiveness for schools

The foundation of the Report Card is an overall rating of each school's academic performance. Building on data about student results provided by Alberta Learning (the provincial ministry of education) we rate each school on a scale from zero to 10. We base our overall rating of each school's academic performance on seven indicators:

- (1) average achievement-test marks (percent) in grade-3 language arts;
- (2) average achievement-test marks (percent) in grade-3 mathematics;
- (3) average achievement-test marks (percent) in grade-6 language arts;
- (4) average achievement-test marks (percent) in grade-6 mathematics;
- (5) the percentage of achievement tests in (1) to (4) where the results were below the acceptable standard;
- (6) the difference between male and female students in their average achievement-test mark in grade-6 language arts;
- (7) the difference between male and female students in their average achievement-test mark in grade-6 mathematics.

We have selected this set of indicators because they provide systematic insight into a school's performance: because they are based on annually generated data, we can assess not only each school's performance in a year but also its improvement or deterioration over time.

Indicators of effective teaching

Average achievement-test marks

These indicators (in the tables Average exam mark) report the average percentage achieved by a school's students on the uniform achievement tests in two core subject areas. For each school, each indicator is the average score (expressed as a percentage) achieved by all of the school's students who completed the tests in the language arts and mathematics achievement tests at the grade-3 and grade-6 levels.

Fundamental to the mission of elementary schools is teaching its students sound basic skills in reading, writing, and mathematics. Basic literacy and numeracy are essential building blocks for life-long learning. The tests upon which the Report Card is based assess students on these dimensions. Examinations are designed to achieve a distribution of results reflecting the differences in students' mastery of this course work. Differences among students in abilities, motivation, and work-habits will inevitably have some impact upon the final results. There are, however, recognizable differences from school to school within a district in the average results on the achievement tests. There is also variation within schools in the results obtained in different subject areas. Such differences in outcomes cannot be wholly explained by the individual and family characteristics of the school's students. It seems reasonable, therefore, to include the average test marks in these two critical subject areas as indicators of effective teaching.

Percentage of achievement tests failed

For each school, this indicator (in the tables Percentage of exams failed) provides the rate of failure (as a percentage) in the achievement tests. It was derived by dividing the sum of all the above achievement tests written by the school's students where either the score was below the acceptable standard or the test was only partially completed by the total number of such tests written by those students.

Since reading, writing, and mathematics are critical to students' further intellectual and personal development, students should, at the minimum, be able to demonstrate that they meet the acceptable standard of performance for their grade in these subject areas. Schools have the responsibility of ensuring that their students are adequately prepared to do so.

How well do the teachers take student differences into account?

The Gender gap indicators

Undoubtedly, the personal characteristics of students can influence the way that they learn. Successful teachers will take into account these characteristics as they develop and implement their lesson plans and teaching strategies. The extent to which a school's teachers succeed in this task can be measured by comparing the results of two different groups of students known to exhibit differences in their learning patterns and academic results.⁴

The relative academic success of boys and girls is a subject of considerable interest in the education establishment as evidenced by the near universal collection of student results data for these two groups of students by ministries of education. The Report Card uses these data to construct the Gender gap indicators.

The Gender gap indicators measure the difference, if any, between boys and girls in their average marks on achievement tests in grade-6 language arts and mathematics. The indicators report the size of the difference and the more successful sex.

In general, how is the school doing, academically?

The Overall rating out of 10

While each of the indicators is important, it is almost always the case that any school does better on some indicators than on others. So, just as a teacher must make a decision about a student's overall performance, we need an overall indicator of school performance (in the tables Overall rating out of 10). Just as teachers combine test scores, homework, and class participation to rate a student, we have combined all the indicators to produce an overall school rating. The overall rating of school performance answers the question, "In general, how is the school doing, academically?"

To derive this rating, the results for each of the indicators, for each of the five years were first standardized. Standardization is a statistical procedure whereby sets of raw data with different characteristics are converted into sets of values with "standard" statistical properties. Standardized values can readily be combined and compared.

The standardized data were then combined where required to produce seven standardized scores—one for each indicator—for each school, for each year. The seven standardized scores were weighted and combined to produce an overall standardized score. Finally, this score was converted into an overall rating out of 10. It is from this Overall rating out of 10 that the school's provincial rank is determined.

For schools where only boys or girls were enrolled, there are, of course, no results for the Gender gap indicators. In these cases the Overall rating is derived using the remaining five indicators. (See Appendix 1 for an explanation of the calculation of the Overall rating out of 10.)

Other indicators of school performance

The Report Card includes other indicators that, while they are not used to derive the Overall rating out of 10, add more information on the school's effectiveness.

The Value-added indicators

Value-added measures are designed to show whether or not a school is having a positive effect on its students over a period of time. That is, does what happens in school—teaching, counseling, encouragement, and the like—really matter? Do students succeed, at least partly because of the quality of the school or is it simply the case that the children of well-educated, highly motivated parents do relatively better than all the rest. One way to measure the effect of the school is to estimate how much of a given school result is due to the personal characteristics of the students and to their families' characteristics and then to assume that the remainder is due to school effects.

In the Report Card on Quebec's Secondary Schools--2002 Edition,⁵ Professor Richard Marceau, co-author of the Report Card, developed a technique to isolate the schools' effect on the Report Card's Overall rating indicator.⁶ His analysis used the employment income of the parents to capture family characteristics and the proportion of students entering the Secondary IV level (the equivalent of Alberta's grade 10) who were older than expected (16 years old or more) to capture the influence of individual students' characteristics and academic history. Using a technique similar to regression analysis, he reduced the Overall rating by the amount estimated to be associated with the two general non-school effects. The remainder was the portion of the Overall rating attributed to school effects. He then ranked the schools on this remainder, divided the ranked schools into quartiles, and assigned a letter grade to the schools in each of the quartiles. Schools that had the greatest effect on their students—those in the first quartile of the ranking—received an A for value-added. Schools ranked in the second quartile had an effect that was somewhat above average on their students and received a B. Schools ranked in the third quartile had an effect that was somewhat below average and received a C. Those schools that had the least effect on their students received a D.

For this Report Card, we have adopted a similar technique using regression analysis to determine the effect of schools on student results as evidenced by their relative success in the grade-6 language arts and mathematics provincial achievement tests. The procedure estimates the extent to which the grade-6 results are associated with parents' average education (yrs.)—as the measure of student family characteristics—and the results achieved by the school's students on the corresponding grade-3 achievement test written three years earlier—as the measure of combined student characteristics like basic ability, motivation, and prior academic experience. The grade-6 results were then reduced by the amount estimated to be associated with these two non-school effects. Finally, the schools were ranked and assigned a letter grade for value-added as described in the preceding paragraph.

Note that the value-added letter grade is only an estimate. First, we cannot be certain that every student at the school in grade 6 was also at the school in grade 3. Second, for schools whose grade-3 classes scored very well or very poorly, it is likely that any change in their level of achievement will be towards the average rather than away from it. For instance, at a school where the average test mark for the grade-3 class was in the top 2% of all schools, it would be extremely unlikely that its grade-6 results three years later would be even better. Third, there may be reasons unrelated to school performance that explain why grade-6 results at a school will differ markedly from grade-3 results. For instance, students at French immersion schools take the grade-3 Language Arts examination in English even though they have not yet received instruction in English. Because they subsequently take instruction in English, it is likely that they will show considerable improvement in that language by the time they take the grade-6 Language Arts Examination.

Nevertheless, the Value added indicator could be useful in that it estimates change over time in school achievement of a particular cohort of students. Thus, it takes personal and family characteristics into account and provides a reasonable measure of the effect of the school on the students' level of achievement between grades 3 and 6. (See Appendix 2 for further details of the calculation of the Value added indicators.)

The Trend indicator

Is the school improving academically? The Report Card provides six years of data for most schools. Unlike a simple snapshot of one year's results, this historical record provides evidence of change (or lack thereof) over time.

To detect trends in the performance indicators, we developed the Trend indicator. This indicator uses statistical analysis to identify those dimensions of school performance in which there has likely been real change rather than a fluctuation in results caused by random occurrences. To calculate the trends, the standardized scores rather than raw data are used. Standardizing makes historical data more comparable and the trend measurement more reliable. Because calculation of trends is uncertain when only a small number of data points is available, a trend is indicated only in those circumstances for which five years of data are available and for which it is statistically significant. For this indicator, we have defined the term "statistically significant" to mean that, nine times out of 10, the trend that is noted is real, that is, it did not happen just by chance.

The socio-economic indicator

Educators can and should take into account the abilities, interests, and backgrounds of their students when they design lesson plans and teach the curriculum. By doing so, they can overcome disadvantages that their students may have. The socio-economic indicator enables us to identify schools that are roughly similar to each other with respect to the home background of their students so that their results can be compared. Effective schools produce good results regardless of the family background of their students.

For this edition of the Report Card, we use the Parents' average education (yrs) developed for the *Report Card on Alberta's High Schools*⁷ as the socio-economic indicator. When data from the 2001 census are available, we will calculate a socio-economic indicator specifically designed for the province's elementary schools.

Previous studies⁸ have shown that variations in student results from school to school cannot be accounted for solely by the personal and family characteristics of its students. Many other factors—including good teaching, counselling, and school administration—contribute to the effectiveness of schools. Indicators like Parents' average education (yrs) describe past relationships between a socio-economic characteristic and a measure of school effectiveness. It should not be inferred that these relationships will, or should, remain static. The more effectively schools enable all their students to succeed, the weaker will be the relationship between the home characteristics of students and their academic success. Thus, this socio-economic indicator should not be used as an excuse for poor school performance.

Detailed school results

How to read the tables

Use the sample table and the explanation of each line below to help you interpret the detailed results for individual schools. Families choosing a school for their students should seek to confirm the Report Card's findings by visiting the school and interviewing teachers, school administrators, and other parents. And, of course, a sound academic program should be complemented by effective programs in areas of school activity not measured by the Report Card.

Row A

Each of the schools in the Report Card has been assigned to a Geographic Area based on the city or town in which the school is located. Grouping schools in these Geographic Areas makes it easier to compare them. Within each Geographic Area, the schools are listed in order of their 2002 provincial ranking. Where schools are tied, they are listed in order of their provincial ranking for the past five years.

Row B

The school name and its affiliation—public, separate, private, or francophone.

Row C

The average number of years of education of the most educated parent (or lone parent in a single parent family). Higher values of this statistic are commonly thought to be associated with better student performance. Use this statistic to identify schools at which the students share similar family backgrounds.

Row D (left)

The percentage of the school's students in the relevant grades who did not write the examination due to absence; because they were excused from writing the examination by the superintendent; or whose results were withheld because, for instance, they retired during the examination due to illness or were found to have cheated. School officials should be able to explain the reasons for a high percentage of non-writers.

Row D (right)

The school's overall academic rank in the province for 2001-02 and for the last five years. The rankings show how the school has done academically compared to the other schools in the province. A high ranking over five years indicates consistently strong results at the school.

Row E

The average mark (%) achieved by the students on the grade-3 language arts achievement test. Note that all the academic performance indicators—except the 3-year Value added indicators and the Overall rating out of 10—are expressed as percentage points.

Row F

The average mark (%) achieved by the students on the grade-3 mathematics achievement test.

Row G

The average mark (%) achieved by the students on the grade-6 language arts achievement test.

Row H

The average mark (%) achieved by the students on the grade-6 mathematics achievement test.

Rows I & J

The difference (in percentage points) between boys and girls in their average marks on the grade-6 language arts and mathematics achievement tests. Where the difference favours the girls the value is preceded by an F. Where boys are favoured, the value is preceded by an M. An E means that there is no difference between the girls and the boys on this measure. Smaller differences indicate that the school is doing a good job for all its students.

Row K

The percentage of all the grade-3 and grade-6 achievement tests in language arts and mathematics written by students at the school that were below the acceptable standard. Note that tests that were found to be only partially complete are included in this percentage.

Rows L & M

This is an estimate of the school's contribution to its students' results on the grade-6 language arts and mathematics achievement tests. Schools that have a strong positive impact on their students receive an A for this indicator. Those that receive a B or a C may have some positive impact on their students. Schools that have little impact receive a D.

The Overall rating out of 10 takes into account the seven indicators described in rows E through K above to answer the question, "In general, how is the school doing academically?"

Column O

"Up" at the end of an indicator row means that the school is probably improving on that indicator. "Down" means that the school is probably getting worse. The researchers had to be at least 90% sure that the changes were not just random before indicating a trend. A dash indicates that there is no significant change. Where insufficient data were available, "n/a" appears in the column. Note that for Percentage of exams failed and the two Gender gap indicators, a downward trend in the data will lead to an "up" in the trend column. For example, a decreasing Percentage of exams failed indicates improvement and so "up" is displayed.

Cell P

The number of students enrolled in grade 6 as of September 30, 2001. Indicator results for small schools tend to be more variable than do those for larger schools and caution should be used in interpreting the results for smaller schools.

Other notesNote 1

Not all the province's elementary schools are included in the tables or the ranking. Of all the schools in the province reporting achievement-test results, 766 are included in this Report Card. Excluded are schools at which fewer than 15 students were enrolled in either grade 3 or grade 6. Also excluded are schools that did not generate a sufficiently large set of student data to enable the calculation of an Overall rating out of 10 for the school year 2001-02.

The exclusion of a school from the Report Card should not be considered a judgement of the school's effectiveness.

Note 2

In accordance with its regulations regarding the privacy of personal information, where school results involved less than six students, Alberta Learning provided no data.

Note 3

Where there were insufficient data available with which to calculate an indicator or where a school was not in operation during a specific year, "n/a" appears in the tables.

Note 4

You can compare a school's results with these all-schools average results.

Ranking the schools

Important notes to the rankings

In this table, schools are ranked (on the left hand side of the page) in descending order (from 1 to 761) according to their academic performance as measured by the Overall rating out of 10 (shown on the right hand side of the table) for the school year 2001/2002. Each school's five-year average ranking and Overall rating out of 10 are also listed. The higher the overall rating (out of 10), the higher the rank awarded to the school. Where schools tied in the overall rating, they were awarded the same rank. Where less than five years of data was available "n/a" appears in the table.

Not all the province's elementary schools are included in the tables or the ranking. Excluded are schools at which fewer than 15 students were enrolled in either grade 3 or grade 6 and schools that did not generate a sufficiently large set of student data to enable the calculation of an Overall rating out of 10.

The exclusion of a school from the Report Card should in no way be construed as a judgement of the school's effectiveness.

Appendix 1: Calculating the Overall rating out of 10

The Overall rating out of 10 is intended to answer the question, “In general, how is the school doing, academically?” The following is a simplified description of the procedure used to convert the raw indicator data into the Overall rating out of 10.

- 1 Course by course, the average achievement test marks and failure rates for each school were standardized by calculating Z , which is defined by:

$$Z = (X - \mu) / \sigma$$

where X is the individual school’s result, μ is the mean of the all-schools distribution of results, and σ is the standard deviation of the same all-schools distribution.

- 2 The course-by-course standardized failure rate data were then aggregated to produce a weighted average standardized failure rate value. The weighting used was the number of student writers in each subject area at the school relative to the total number of student writers of the relevant tests.
- 3 This weighted average failure rate result was then re-standardized.
- 4 The Gender gap indicators were calculated using the raw data and then standardized as described in step 1 above.
- 5 The seven standardized indicator results were then combined to produce a weighted average summary standardized score for the school. The weightings used in these calculations were Average exam mark (for each of the four subject areas)—12.5%; Percentage of exams failed—30%; grade 6 gender gap: Language Arts—10%; grade 6 gender gap: Mathematics—10%. For schools for which there were no gender-gap results in either of the two courses, the Percentage of exams failed was weighted at 50%.
- 6 This summary standardized score was re-standardized.

This standardized score was converted into an overall rating between 0 and 10 as follows:

- 7 The allowable maximum and minimum standardized scores were set at 2.2 and -3.29 respectively. Scores equal to, or greater than, 2.2 receive an overall rating of 10. This cut-off was chosen because it allows more than one school in a given year to be awarded 10 out of 10. Scores of equal to, or less than, -3.29 receive the lowest overall rating of 0. Schools with scores below -3.29 are likely to be outliers, a statistical term used to denote members of a population that appear to have characteristics substantially different from the rest of the population. We chose, therefore, to set the minimum score so as to disregard such extreme differences.

8 The resulting standardized scores were converted into Overall ratings according to the formula:

$$OR = \mu + (\sigma * \text{StanScore})$$

where OR is the resulting Overall rating, μ is the average calculated according to the formula:

$$\mu = (OR_{\min} - 10 (Z_{\min} / Z_{\max})) / (1 - (Z_{\min} / Z_{\max}))$$ where σ is the standard deviation calculated according to the formula:

$$\sigma = (10 - \mu) / Z_{\max}$$ and StanScore is the standardized score calculated in (6) above and adjusted as required for minimum and maximum values as noted in (7) above. As noted in (7) above, OR_{\min} equals zero, Z_{\min} equals -3.29 ; and Z_{\max} equals 2.2 .

9 Finally, the derived Overall rating is rounded to one place of the decimal to reflect the significant number of places of the decimal in the original raw data.

Note that the Overall rating out of 10, based as it is on standardized scores, is a relative rating. That is, in order for a school to show improvement in its Overall rating, it must improve more than the average. If it improves, but at a rate less than the average, it will show a decline in its rating.

Appendix 2: Calculating the Value added indicators

The Value added indicators were calculated as follows:

- 1 For each grade 6 examination, for each of the school years 2000–2001 and 2001–2002, the standardized results were regressed on the two independent variables: Parents' average education in years and Grade 3 standardized exam mark achieved at the school three years earlier. The regression coefficients were then determined (see table A2 below).
- 2 For each grade 6 examination, for each of the two school years, the proportions of the standardized result associated with Parents' average education (yrs) and grade 3 standardized exam mark were deducted from the total, according to the formula:

Where $G6_{\text{Seff}}$ is the component of the grade 6 standardized results attributed to school effects; $G6$ is the actual, standardized grade 6 examination result; b_{Ed} is the parents' average education (yrs) regression coefficient; EdMEP is the actual parents' average education (yrs) at the school; b_{g3} is the grade 3 standardized exam mark regression coefficient; and, $G3$ is the actual grade 3 standardized exam mark.

- 3 The proportion of the grade 6 standardized exam result attributed to school effects ($G6_{\text{Seff}}$) was standardized.
- 4 The standardized values of $G6_{\text{Seff}}$ for all the schools were sorted from highest to lowest and divided into quartiles.
- 5 The results were converted into a letter grade determined by the quartile into which each result was placed. Schools whose result fell in the fourth (highest scoring) quartile, received a letter grade of A; those in the third quartile received a letter grade of B; those in the second quartile received a letter grade of C; and, those in the first quartile (lowest scoring) received a letter grade of D.

Notes

Parents' average education (yrs) is derived from the 1996 Census data aggregated to the Enumeration Area (EA) level. The data reported the average number of years of education of the most educated parent in student families. Data was weighted according to student enrollment by Enumeration Area. Alberta Learning provided the necessary enrollment data.

 = significant at 99% level.
